

Communication Guide

THIS GUIDE WILL HELP YOU EFFECTIVELY COMMUNICATE [POSITIVE]* NEWBORN SCREENING RESULTS TO PARENTS.

Because this type of communication is not a routine activity for the primary care provider, the information below may be used to help frame the discussion with families to improve understanding of the screening result, adherence to follow-up recommendations, and the family's overall experience with newborn screening.

Share the specific [positive]* newborn screening result and associated condition(s) with the family. Help the family understand that a [positive]* newborn screening result and associated condition(s) with the family.

■ Help the family understand that a [positive]* newborn screening result is serious, but that you are there to help quide them through the next steps.

nomprehension: Assess the family's understanding of newborn screening.

Assess if the family recalls and understands the process of newborn screening.

eiterate what screening is and is not.

Remind the family about the purpose of newborn screening and that it is not a diagnostic test, so it is important that timely follow-up confirmatory testing be done.

ngage with the family and provide information at their desired level and pace.

- Offer to provide the family additional result-specific information provided by the state newborn screening program.
- Discuss information using non-medical terms, at the family's pace and desired level of detail.

xplore the family's emotions.

- Explore with the family how they might use their support system or other support resources now and as they go through the diagnostic process.
- Remember there is a wide spectrum of how families may cope with this result (anxiety to denial). Tailor your discussion to help the family hear and retain the information discussed.

ext steps: Discuss a shared plan and provide resources.

- Discuss with the family a shared plan that is concrete, specific, and includes the following:
 - Where, when, and with whom is the next appointment?
 - What testing will be considered and/or done?
 - What should they watch for in their child while they wait?
 - Who can they contact if they have additional questions or concerns?
- Assess the family's understanding of the visit and information provided using teach-back methods, and provide valid websites for them to get more information.

*A positive newborn screening result can also be referred to as an abnormal result, an out-of-range result, or presumptive positive result.
