

CT Children's CLASP Guideline References

Elevated TSH with Normal Thyroid Hormone Level

- Biondi, B., Cappola, A. R., & Cooper, D. S. (2019). Subclinical Hypothyroidism: A Review. JAMA, 322(2), 153–160.
- Ergin, Z., Savaş-Erdeve, Ş., Kurnaz, E., Çetinkaya, S., & Aycan, Z. (2018). Follow-up in children with non-obese and non-autoimmune subclinical hypothyroidism. Journal of pediatric endocrinology & metabolism: JPEM, 31(10), 1133–1138.
- Lee, M. K., Kim, Y. M., Sohn, S. Y., Lee, J. H., Won, Y. J., & Kim, S. H. (2019). Evaluation of the relationship of subclinical hypothyroidism with metabolic syndrome and its components in adolescents: a population-based study. Endocrine, 65(3), 608–615.
- Niranjana, U., & Wright, N. P. (2016). Should we treat subclinical hypothyroidism in obese children?. BMJ (Clinical research ed.), 352, i941.
- Pacifico, L., Anania, C., Ferraro, F., Andreoli, G. M., & Chiesa, C. (2012). Thyroid function in childhood obesity and metabolic comorbidity. Clinica chimica acta; international journal of clinical chemistry, 413(3-4), 396–405.
- Rumińska, M., Witkowska-Sędek, E., Majcher, A., Brzewski, M., Krawczyk, M., & Pyrżak, B. (2018). Serum TSH level in obese children and its correlations with atherogenic lipid indicators and carotid intima media thickness. Journal of ultrasonography, 18(75), 296–301.
- Rumińska, M., Witkowska-Sędek, E., Majcher, A., Brzewski, M., Krawczyk, M., & Pyrżak, B. (2018). Serum TSH level in obese children and its correlations with atherogenic lipid indicators and carotid intima media thickness. Journal of ultrasonography, 18(75), 296–301.